THEIR BROTHERS ARE REMEMBERED BY B. P. O. ELKS

Their Faults Written Upon the

Tender Tribute to Dead of Paducah Lodge.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES HELD

Even more beautiful and impressive than in years previous was the eighteenth annual memorial service of the Paducah lodge, No. 217, B. P. O. Elks, held at the Kentucky theater yesterday afternoon, in memory of their deceased brothers. Joining in with the fraternal body, an audience that comfortably filled the theater, listened to every word and movement, a warm tribute of respect to their love and fellowship.

An inspiring feature accompanying the opening ceremonies was an electrical design by Henry Schroth at the back of the stage. A huge canvas, in the center of which was a large head of an elk, and surrounded by smaller heads of equal size, symbolized of the fraternal membership, with electric light globes set in place at each head, was lighted at the call of the roll of the deceased, until it was aglow in all brilliancy. Secretary A. W. Grief, who read the list of names, emphasized the names of William Horneiman, Mel. Ferguson, E. S. Howard and Dr. J. R. M. Dillon, whose deaths occurred during the past year, in calling their names. Each head on the canvases lighted in response to the name.

The curtain rose at 2:30 o'clock, the members of the lodge standing during the procession, placed by Miss Hazelton and Messrs. Bondurant. The Rev. George W. Banks, pastor of the Fountain Avenue Methodist church, invoked the divine blessing, followed by the lodge ceremonies.

The soloists, Mrs. Lella Wade Lewis, Mrs. Joseph Grunbaum, Mr. Emmett S. Bagby and Mr. Slavic Mail, added much to the success of the service, pleasing the audience with delightful music.

The former-meet service, in which each Elk dropped the flower into urns at the front of the stage, was impressive. The congregation joined with the lodge in the songs. Exalted Ruler George R. Davis presided at the center of the stage, the members occupying seats at either side and to the rear.

Eulogies to the memory of Messrs. Horneiman, Ferguson, Dillon and Howard were given by County Attorney Alben Barkley. A high tribute was paid to the departed brothers by the speaker.

Hon. Joseph M. Huffaker, commonwealth attorney of Louisville, Ky., was the orator of the occasion.

Mr. Huffaker's speech:
"Through the kindness and confidence of my brothers, I have been

New Pastor Is Called.

Mayfield, Ky., Dec. 6.—The members of the First Baptist church of this city have extended a call to the Rev. W. M. Wood, of Humboldt, Tenn., who has accepted the pastorate, and will assume his new charge on or about the first of the year. The present pastor is Dr. W. D. Nowlin, who sent in his resignation some time ago, to take effect as soon as a new pastor could be secured. Dr. Nowlin is now in Little Rock, Ark., conducting a revival, and after he leaves this church he will devote his time to evangelical work.

City Auditor Alex. Kirkland, who has been ill for several weeks, is suffering from a general nervous breakdown and is confined to his home, 1611 Broadway.

PETITION STARTED TO RELIEVE SHERIFF

Residents of the Florence Station section have started a petition to the legislature to take the collection of county and state taxes from the sheriff's hands and create the office of county tax collector. The petition had 83 signers this morning and the men behind it say they expect to get several hundred names before sending it to the legislature. At present the sheriff collects the county and state taxes, but the petitioners wish the sheriff to attend to the courts and preserve peace only.

Big Battle Imminent Between The Forces

Bluefields, via. wireless to Colon, Dec. 6.—Every road and stream leading to Rama is heavily mined. Estrada today is waiting an attack by government forces of Zelaya. Zelaya's vanguard is now within a few hours' march of Estrada's outposts and desultory fighting may begin at any moment.

The main attack is not expected until tomorrow. Estimates of the strength of contending armies vary greatly, but it is believed a total of fifteen thousand will be involved. Zelaya claims between eight and ten thousand, which would give him numerical superiority, but this advantage is more than offset by excellent condition of the revolutionary army which also has advantage of being the defending army. It is believed the result will be the overwhelming victory for the revolutionists.

Chamorro, besieging Greytown, reports the condition of the government troops there critical, both from physical and a tactical standpoint. Government troops, led by Toledo, are undisciplined, and poorly armed, Chamorro says, and he is prepared to attack the moment he hears of the successful conclusion of the Rama engagement.

If Estrada can win at both Rama and Greytown this week the way will be clear for an early advance on Managua, the capture of which he believes would mark the termination of the war.

Zelaya Ready to Flee.

New Orleans, Dec. 6.—A private cablegram this morning says Zelaya made arrangements to flee with his family in the first steamer for Corinto.

Case Will be Reviewed—
Railroad Case is Remanded

Washington, Dec. 6.—Charles W. Morse, former ice king and New York millionaire, must serve the fifteen years' sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary, imposed by the circuit court, for the alleged wrecking of the National Bank of America.

Will Review Gompers Case.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The supreme court today decided to review Judge Wright's contempt decision against Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, granting the writ of certiorari.

Remand Railroad Case.

Washington, Dec. 6.—On the ground that the judges of the circuit court of the northern district of California certified the case without due regard to the so-called expediting act, the supreme court today refused at this time to consider the famous suit of the Southern Pacific against the Interstate Commerce commission, involving the right of that body to fix the rates, and remanded the whole litigation back to that court for "proceedings in accordance with the law." It is exactly the same action taken by the court in the complex litigation between the Baltimore & Ohio and the Interstate Commerce commission, involving the legality of the order of the body for the distribution of cars in mining districts of western Virginia.

Mr. Kerth Off Duty.

While lifting a heavy piece of timber, Mr. August Kerth, a linotype operator and mechanic in the Evening Sun, injured the middle finger of his left hand. The bone was not fractured, but the flesh was bruised badly. Dr. H. T. Hensel dressed the injury. Owing to the injury Mr. Kerth will be off duty for several days.

FUGITIVE WITNESS IS STILL MISSING

Cherry, Ill., Dec. 6.—Alexander Rosenjack, fugitive witness in the investigation into the mine disaster, is still missing. Authorities conducting the search for him allege that mine officials are advancing him money secretly.

No Strike Breakers.

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 6.—Half of the troops sent to Bridgeport, O., to regulate the strike disturbances were withdrawn this morning. Perfor order prevails, following the promise of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company that professional strike breakers will not be imported.

RUSSIAN EMPRESS SAID TO BE DYING AT COUNTRY HOME

St. Petersburg, Dec. 6.—Empress Alexandra, the empress, today is in a critical condition at Lydia, the imperial estate on the Black sea, near Yalta. Several members of the imperial family were summoned to her bedside in expectation of death. She has complicated troubles and a nervous breakdown. She is hysterical, and, it is believed, hopelessly deranged. She has taken no active part in state functions for more than a year. Those seeing her recently say she is a mere shadow of her former self.

Four Hundred Drown.

London, Dec. 6.—Estimates of the dead in the storm sweeping the English channel and North sea, last week, were too small. It is now revealed that 400 were drowned. Corpses are being washed ashore. Many ships today report picking up survivors. Few of the crews of wrecked boats were saved, owing to the heavy seas that snatched the life boats in which escape was attempted. Dispatches today from Denmark say three of the Esbjerg fishing fleet of 200 vessels escaped. There is little hope for the others.

ROOSEVELT'S MAN RETURNING HOME

SAYS COLONEL AND HIS PARTY ARE ENJOYING SPORT IN AFRICA.

New York, Dec. 6.—F. C. Zelonis, a famous hunter of big game, who outfitted the Roosevelt African expedition and accompanied the party to Africa, is today on his way to California, where he expects to spend a month or six weeks before returning home to England. "When I left the colony last July," he said, "the entire party was in the best of health and enthusiastic over the hunting conditions in Africa. Roosevelt is an expert shot and rapidly is becoming an expert African woodsman. He will give the world some valuable knowledge on Africa."

Greta Green.

Metropolis, Ill., Dec. 6.—(Special)—Silas Lamb, an employee of the Illinois Central shops, and Miss Lulu Thompson, of Paducah, were married here yesterday by Magistrate Liggett. Mr. Ben Huxwell and Miss Hilde Nance, of Mayfield, were married today.

Colonel Mott Ayres has returned from Louisville, Lexington and Frankfort, where he has been in the interest of his race for sergeant-at-arms of the senate chamber. It is said that Colonel Ayres has the promise of 22 senators, and if this be true, he will be an easy winner.

ARMENIAN DIES COURAGEOUSLY IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Member of Revolutionary
Society, Who Murdered
Merchant.

Police Called it Plain Case of Blackmail.

AN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIR

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 6.—"If I did my duty to my country, Jesus save me," gasped Nedros Hampart Joomian, Armenian patriot, who was electrocuted at Sing Sing at six this morning for the murder of Hoonas Levashanjanian, millionaire Armenian rug importer, whom he shot in Union Square, New York, in 1907.

He walked quietly to the gallows with a crucifix in his lips. He kissed the cross as attendants bound the straps about his face.

The murder for which Hampart Joomian died created international interest. Hampart Joomian acted as agent for the inner circle of the Armenian revolutionary society known as the Panchaklet society. He demanded immense sums of money from Levashanjanian. The money, the society claimed was to be used in revolutionary plans to overthrow the rule of the Turkish sultan in Armenia.

The police declare the society is using the revolution as a cloak for a gigantic blackmail. Levashanjanian received demands upon him with contempt, but July 22, 1907, while he was standing before his place of business in Union Square, Hampart Joomian approached and emptied his revolver into the rug merchant, who fell dead.

MEMPHIS NEGRO FALLS OFF TRAM AND IS HURT.

Unconscious from being struck by an engine, W. A. Williams, colored, was found in the south yard of the Illinois Central railroad yesterday morning. Williams has only one leg, and it is presumed he was trying to steal a ride when he was struck. The crew did not see him and he lay on the ground for the rain from about 4 o'clock until 8 o'clock. When found he was carried to Eleventh street and Broadway and loaded into the patrol wagon and taken to Riverside hospital. His injuries consisted of bruises about the body, but they are not serious, although he may be injured internally. Williams' home is in Memphis.

STORK BUSY SUNDAY AT LITTLE CYPRESS

Little Cypress, Ky., Dec. 6.—(Special)—Four births, and all boys, reported since Saturday, are the result of the stork's visit. The proud parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pace, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Story, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Willoughby and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cox. All of the little fellows are thriving.

Attack of Vertigo.

On stepping from an automobile at Fourth street and Broadway Saturday night after a ride over the city, Miss Helen Harp, daughter of Mrs. Della Harp, of South Eighth street, was stricken to the sidewalk with an attack of vertigo. In falling her head was injured. Medical attention was given her and she was removed to her home, where she is improving.

Old Fashioned Gospel.

The Rev. J. G. Anderson, of Jackson, Tenn., will preach again tonight at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Twelfth and Trimble streets. He preaches the plain old-fashioned gospel with much power. His sermon was so pleasing to his congregation yesterday that at the evening service the entire congregation requested him to preach again this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

TRIAL OF CAPT. DAVIS TO BEGIN TOMORROW

The trial of Captain Harry Davis and Engineer Saddle Amiel, of the steamer "Liberty," will be called tomorrow, in Smithland. They are charged with confederating and carrying off the sheriff of Livingston county. At the last term of the court the jury failed to agree. A number of Paducah attorneys are employed in the case. Attorneys Bagby & Martin and Judge John K. Hendrick will attend the trial. Davis was under arrest at Smithland a year ago for selling liquor without a license, and while Sheriff Bishop was on the steamer "Liberty" the boat pulled out and the crew and officers had a merry time on board.

COLD WAVE COMES TO THIS SECTION WITH HEAVY RAIN

The Warm Weather Suddenly
Turns Freezing While Wind
Blows.

Ice Found on Pools This Morning.

RISE PREDICTED TOMORROW

Forecast for Paducah and vicinity: Fair, tonight, and Tuesday increasing cloudiness, and warmer in west and central portions. Highest temperature today was 43 and the lowest was 26. The rainfall Sunday amounted to .55 of an inch.

Pesto, change!

With a sudden sweep of his wand, Old Man Winter cast a spell upon the Weather Man yesterday morning and light weight garments changed into furs, muffs and heavy clothing. Indian summer was left only a memory and icy weather took the hoards for a time.

According to reports the northwest was visited by a blizzard, which passed aside and left its trimmings here. The sudden change was preceded by a heavy rainfall Saturday night and Sunday morning. A high wind about 11 o'clock Sunday morning drove heavy clouds away, checking the rain as quick as the mercury dropped. As the day progressed it grew colder and Paducahans housed themselves snugly during the night and prepared for chilly weather this morning.

A heavy frost fell and a thin scum of ice could be found. The lowest temperature recorded for today was 26. The thermometer did not go over 43 degrees.

The sudden inroad of cold weather is believed to have come to stay, succeeding the halcyon weather of the past several weeks, although the weather man says warmer tomorrow. The high wind yesterday morning blew down tree limbs over the city and downtown crashed in a few wind-panes, without mentioning innumerable pedestrians who chased their headgear.

WIGGINS IS HELD TO ANSWER FOR MURDER

John Wiggins, colored, waived a preliminary hearing in police court this morning, and was held over to the circuit court grand jury without bail, to answer for the murder of Walter Scott, colored, at Broadway and Maiden alley, Friday night, November 26. Wiggins, a porter at the Illinois saloon, shot and killed Scott in a quarrel over Maude Christman, Wiggins' innamorata. Attorney F. E. Graves will represent him.

A CONFEDERATE SHAFT UNVEILED

ONE WILL BE ERECTED IN OAK GROVE CEMETERY BEFORE NEXT MAY.

Plans are in course of preparation for the unveiling of the Confederate memorial shaft on the Confederate lot in Oak Grove cemetery in May. The shaft is of granite, plain and dignified, rising on its base to a height of 25 feet. The only inscription will be "To Our Confederate Dead." The local chapter, U. D. C., is in charge of the preparations. Some noted orator will deliver the address of the occasion.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ATTENDED FUNERAL

Nearly every man in the police department attended the funeral of ex-Patrolman Aaron Hurley yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the German Evangelical church, on South Fifth street. The department was headed by Chief Collins, Captain Frank Harlan and Lieutenant Henry Bailey in a body and a beautiful floral wreath was contributed among the many flowers of tribute. The body of Mr. Hurley was shipped at 6:10 o'clock to Newbern, Tenn., where it was buried this morning at 10 o'clock.

NO BUSINESS IS TRANSACTED AND PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO BE DELIVERED EARLY TOMORROW

All Factions Seem to Be Waiting For President Taft to Outline His Policy Before Announcing Their Programs.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Congress convened this noon. President Taft was officially notified that congress is in session and ready to hear "a message in writing" tomorrow.

Before the adjournment at 12:40 Representative Sulzer, in the house declared war against Nicaragua in the shape of a resolution proposing that the president use the land and naval forces to restore order, maintain peace and protect life and property in Zelaya's republic.

The resolution demands the arrest, trial and punishment of Zelaya for the murder of American prisoners and insists that damages from Nicaragua and a Republican form of government there.

No Programs.

The beginning of the session is regarded as always, with much interest but there have been few sessions in recent years for which there has been so little planning among members. Ordinarily Speaker Cannon and Senator Aldrich, who speaks for the majority of the senate, have a program at the beginning of the session, but this year have none, or if they have, are not talking about it. They are awaiting the president. By common consent, apparently, all are holding back until the presidential recommendations can be received, as they will be on Tuesday, in his first annual message.

CALHOUN TO HEAD PEKIN LEGATION

CHICAGO MAN APPOINTED MIN-ISTER TO CHINA AND ACCEPTED.

Washington, Dec. 6.—William J. Calhoun, of Chicago, has accepted the post of minister to China, and the Chinese government has indicated its satisfaction with the appointment, according to the announcement of the state department today.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Beyond admitting that he has accepted the post of United States minister to China and stating he would sail for China in January, Mr. Calhoun today declined to discuss the appointment.

COUNCIL WILL HAVE CONTRACT BEFORE IT

The contract for sidewalk work on Fountain avenue, Clay and Twelfth streets will be before the board of councilmen tonight. Mayor Ed. Hannan will have nothing to bring before the board, and routine business will only require the attention of the board. Tonight is the regular meeting night, and the meeting will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock.

COUNCIL SLATE IS IN DANGER OF A BREAK

Dissatisfaction has arisen over the state framed up in the caucus last week by some of the democratic aldermen and councilmen, and another caucus may be called. Some of the democrats who participated are not satisfied at the outcome, and although they will not break their word, say they would like to have another caucus, and it may be held. It is understood that one democratic member of the lower board has announced that if nobody will follow him he will break the slate. Several of the caucus nominees are not satisfied to the democrats because new residents have been picked for the jobs, while old standbys, who have labored in the trenches, have been thrown down.

are not talking about it. They are awaiting the president. By common consent, apparently, all are holding back until the presidential recommendations can be received, as they will be on Tuesday, in his first annual message.

That all his suggestions will be acted upon is too much to say. But there is a disposition to accommodate him as far as can be done and there is a determination to hear his recommendations before entering upon any effort along lines upon which he has intimated a desire to be heard. Even the "insurgents" generally express a willingness to wait upon the white house before attempting to formulate a plan of action.

Will Criticize Tariff.
This is true both in the senate and the house. They manifest much interest in the forthcoming message, but say that until it is received they will be unable to form any plans. They proclaim no fight against the president, but some at least of them are avowedly irreconcilable in their attitude towards the speaker and Senator Aldrich, whom they hold responsible, the one for the house rules, and the other for the tariff law. Upon this subject they will be heard before the session grows very old and it is not hoped by the friends of the new tariff that they will avoid criticism. The pro-tariffers are prepared for this, and will attempt to meet it when it comes.

There is practically no prospect of amending the rules of the house during this session and the indications are strong that there will be no general effort in that direction. There doubtless will be some talk, however. The chief interest centers in the possibility of railroad legislation and all heads are waiting with keen expectancy to see what recommendations Mr. Taft may make on the subject. Representative Mann has bills proposed on all these points and will present them as soon as the message is received. He is chairman of the committee which has the measures in hand, and will press them with vigor.

Nicaragua Live Topic.

Much interest is felt in the Nicaraguan situation, but the general disposition is to permit the executive branch to deal with it without legislative interferences, at least in the present stage. Congressmen generally express no apprehension as to the outcome.

The attitude of Canada toward the provisions of the tariff bill relative to print paper and wood pulp is giving some concern. There will be early efforts to remedy this situation, but there is no certainty of the outcome.

While the corporation tax provisions of the tariff bill was under consideration during the extra session Senator Aldrich expressed the opinion that it might be not of long life, but he probably will take no steps to abrogate it until the full effect of the tariff as a revenue producer can be ascertained.

Representative Campbell will introduce a resolution Monday for an investigation of the sugar trust.

Statehood is Likely.
The opinion is quite general that after their "long wait at the church," New Mexico and Arizona will attain to statehood before the close of the session. The president has promised that they shall come in separately, and while many members still regard the two territories as unprepared for the responsibilities of statehood, the probability is that they will yield and allow the passage of a bill enabling their admission.

There also will be strenuous efforts to get through a postal saving bill and a merchant marine bill, but both will be opposed.

To Be Forehanded is the Part of Wisdom

Purchasing Christmas gifts early is being forehanded. The early buyer escapes the rush and worry of shopping amidst crowds and confusion, and approaches the glad Yuletide with serenity and peace of mind.

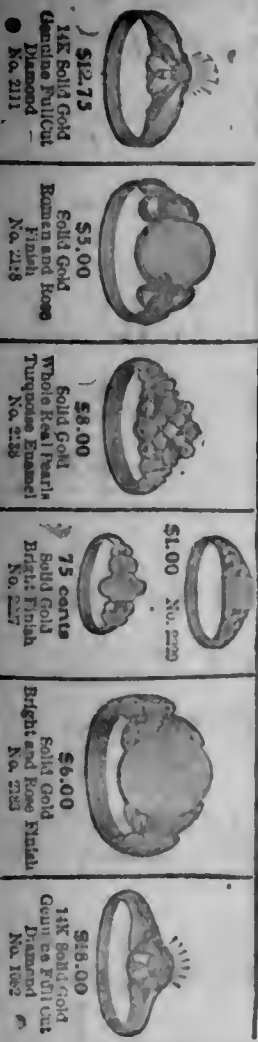

Purchasing early gives you better advantages in buying. You make your selections from a complete new stock and have time and opportunity for thought and careful examination. There is also a price advantage in early purchasing.

I have already done my Christmas buying and the goods are now ready for your inspection. You will find among the many good things for Christmas here a pleasing gift for everyone to whom you intend to give gifts really worthy of the Christmas spirit, at prices well within your means.

LATIN JUNTA IN WASHINGTON

NONE OF THEM HAVE MUCH
SYMPATHY FOR ZELAYA.

All Want to Know How Far United States Will Go in the Affairs of Central America.

MANY NEW ALIGNMENTS MADE

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Central American Junta, composed of diplomats and patriots from the five turbulent little republics between Yucatan and South America, is one of the last acquisitions of the capital of the United States. While it has been meeting regularly ever since Secretary Knox gave passports to the representative of President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, it has managed to shroud itself in mystery. The Junta is working steadily on plans that have to do with the future of the little states.

The Junta is unofficial, but vociferous. Its sessions are held in the cafe of a leading hotel, much frequented by South and Central American diplomats and the police of the Central American states are thrashed out daily and nightly. It forms the clearing house for all the information that leaks unofficially from revolution-torn Nicaragua, while the diplomats have framed up a half dozen new alignments of the five republics, each with a view to equitable distribution of the "balance of power."

Among the members of the Junta who daily gather are Frederico Mejia, minister from Salvador; J. B. Calvo, minister from Costa Rica; Luis Tellez Herrarte, minister from Guatemala; Luis Lazo Arrango, minister from Honduras, and Luis P. Corea, former minister from Nicaragua.

In addition to this distinguished group, there are Luis Anderson, former minister of foreign relations of Costa Rica; Senor Don Luis Felipe Carlo, minister from Ecuador; Dr. Salvador Castillon, agent here for the Nicaraguan insurgents; Inabel Cruse, minister from Chile and a score of attaches from the various Latin-American legations.

The meetings of the Junta are not attended with any great show of ceremony. The Central American diplomats have much food for debate. According to one of them, they are torn by conflicting emotions. While none except the former representatives of the Nicaraguan government is disappointed at the action of the United States in aiding the movement to overthrow President Zelaya, all would like to know how far this government is prepared to go in its work of policing and regulating the affairs of Central America.

Knox's Letter Re-read.
Secretary Knox's letter to Zelaya has been read and re-read by these diplomats until practically every member of the Junta has it committed to memory. Around the guarded expressions of the letter, which are few in number, the debate in the Junta has raged, each member entertaining a different view of the state department's implied intentions.

LIBERIA ASKS POLICE.
Wants American Aid to Control African Hinterland.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Republic of Liberia has requested the assistance of the government of the United States in organizing a large police force to control the natives who inhabit the African hinterland. The officials here have not yet decided to comply with the request, but with a view of observing the operation of the police and semi-military forces employed by the European powers to subdue the wild tribes of Liberia, it has designated a military attaché for Liberia. This officer is first Lieutenant Benjamin O. Davis, of the Tenth cavalry.

It is hoped that the information which Lieutenant Davis may acquire as to the management of the interior tribes of Liberia may be useful to the United States government in handling the native inhabitants of the Southern provinces of the Philippine islands.

Beethoven's Last Days.
Beethoven had troubles besides the scourge of deafness. Throughout his life the conduct of brothers irked and grieved him, and when on the death of one of them he adopted his orphaned son, that nephew's outrageous conduct broke his heart. Then he felt the sting of poverty. Dying, he would have lacked the very necessities of a waning life had it not been for the Philharmonic society of England. The society has never boasted of the fact, but a fact it is that a voucher of 100 pounds sent by them to Beethoven, at his last gasp, made death less a martyrdom to the famous musician.—London Graphic.

MRS. FORD SAYS SHAY DIED IN

MYSTERIOUS DEATH DIVULGED.

Cincinnati, Dec. 6.—"I defy Ida Brockway to come to Cincinnati and appear at the trial of this case; to be where I can tell some things so that she can hear; to be here when I tell what I know of her past history."

This statement was made today by Mrs. Jeannette Timmons-Ford-Stewart, the "woman in the Warriner case," Mrs. Stewart says she will

Nervous Prostration

"I suffered so with Nervous Prostration that I thought there was no use trying to get well. A friend recommended Dr. Miles' Nervine, and although skeptical at first, I soon found myself recovering, and am to-day well."

MRS. D. I. JONES,
5800 Broadway, Cleveland, O.

Much sickness is of nervous origin. It's the nerves that make the heart force the blood through the veins, the lungs take in oxygen, the stomach digest food, the liver secrete bile and the kidneys filter the blood. If any of these organs are weak, it is the fault of the nerves through which they get their strength. Dr. Miles' Nervine is a specific for the nerves. It soothes the irritation and assists in the generation of nerve force. Therefore, you can hardly miss it if you take Dr. Miles' Nervine when sick. Get a bottle from your druggist. Take it all according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

tell of certain occurrences which will put Ida Brockway in such a light that she will be afraid to appear on the streets and will run away to hide her shame.

One of these matters is said to be the sudden death of the late Thomas Shay. Mr. Shay was known all over the country as a criminal lawyer, having gained that fame at the time of the Walling and Jackson trials in Cincinnati twelve years ago, tried in the house where Ida Brockway is said to have been rooming. This case and others will be brought out by Mrs. Stewart in her testimony, and she will show while it was of the woman who is now under cover revealed the circumstances of War-riner's shortage.

Warriner to Get Four Years.

Warriner himself will appear in court and confess to the embezzlement of $6,000 from the funds of the Big Four, under two indictments for which he is now held in the county jail. It is understood that this is all that will be brought against him, and he, in all probability, will be sentenced to serve two years on each indictment concurrently in the penitentiary at Columbus.

Special Agent of the Treasury Department Eugene L. Weeks will bring to Cincinnati within forty-eight hours a force of examiners from the treasury offices in Washington to go over in detail the books of Charles Frank Condon, of the surveyor's office. They will examine Condon's records fully and will report to Washington the result of their examination about the first of January.

That Mrs. Ford intends to swear out a warrant for the arrest of Edgar S. Cook, of Chicago, unless some one on the side of the prosecution does so, is intimated by her several talks she has had recently with the representatives of the Hearst News Service.

Some even expect St. Peter to pass them through the pearly gates because they once paid 50 cents for a 15-cent supper at a church social.

WEEKLY LETTER OF CLEWS

New York, Dec. 6. (Special).—Conditions in the stock market are such as to induce hesitancy. Money is growing tighter. Congress opens next week. Serious strikes have been inaugurated on western railroads. The Nicaraguan troubles disturb confidence. Sugar and telephone investigations stimulate hostility to large corporations. Industrial magnates dislike recent interference with mergers and segregation plans. New security issues have depressed many high class stocks; while the coming British election deranges trade and finance in England. All these conditions combined are adverse to bullish operations. On the other hand, the satisfactory conditions in general business have thus far been sufficient to prevent any sharp or radical decline.

General trade continues large in volume, especially in the interior. Bank clearings demonstrate this. Railroad earnings are very satisfactory, and the extraordinary activity in steel as yet shows no signs of abating. Textiles are also in good demand. Secretary Wilson's annual report emphasizes anew the phenomenal prosperity of the agricultural classes, showing that the crops of the current year are valued on the farm at approximately $3,700,000,000, or $869,000,000 more than a year ago. This is an increase of more than 10 per cent in value in twelve months, which is considerably greater than the increase of quantity in farm products and goes far towards explaining the present high cost of living, about which complaint is so universal. This prosperity of the farmer, the largest factor in our industrial life, is the bedrock of the present general activity in business. He is probably making larger profits than are his due, and at the expense of the temporarily helpless consumer. But you one begrudges him his good fortune, for he must use it either in getting out of debt, building up his bank deposit or spending more or less in luxuries, the production of which keeps others well employed.

In the steel trade present activity reflects the natural industrial development of the nation. This latter involves great constructive activity and a large use of building materials. Railroad construction and improvements are going on at a rapid pace, and the rebuilding of our cities consumes immense quantities of iron and steel. Other metals partly enjoy the activity allotted to steel. The demand for copper has improved considerably, but production still keeps ahead of consumption, and the world's supplies are exceedingly heavy. The true remedy for the present copper situation rests in a lowering of price, such as would close many of the more expensive producing mines, and thus check overproduction by natural means. Artificial methods of restraining production through combinations do not exceed, and as long as they violate both economic and statutory law should not be encouraged. Yet they are most persistently promoted, by the managers of high cost producing companies which are in an unenviable position, and would be seriously hurt by a substantial drop in the price of the raw metal.

Bank clearings are very heavy and testify as to the activity in business. The strikers in the west are such as accompany prosperity, but there is a possibility of their spending more or less impairing the net earnings of roads affected. General trade is in sound condition, and the commercial outlook, as well as the industrial, is generally promising. The chief complaint heard is the growing cost of conducting business; and the outlook is for diminished profits in the coming year unless prices can be forced to a still higher level; a contingency which in many cases will be impossible, for consumers are already rebelling and economizing.

On Monday next congress will open. The outlook is confusing. The tariff is out of the way, for the present at least, but the question of regulating monopolies and preserving competition threatens to be one of the active discussion during the coming sessions. A return of confidence in this respect can hardly be expected until the sentiment of congress is more clearly defined. President Taft's message will be looked forward to with special interest; and while he must be expected to keep his promises and maintain the Roosevelt policies, it is probable that he will do so with as kindly a hand as the situation will permit. Recent exposures concerning the sugar scandal are exceedingly unfortunate at this time, since they serve to stimulate the public dislike to great corporations.

The Nicaraguan troubles, though unsettling, are not serious and can have no permanent effect upon this market. Money promises to be firm, at least during the balance of the year. The condition of the associated banks is improving somewhat, but gold exports continue, and demands for new capital are steadily increasing. Our treasury balance is still declining in spite of improvement in revenue; and unless a change sets in for the better before many weeks the government will be obliged to take temporary measures and issue bonds or short term notes, the new corporation taxes not being available for another six months. Customs revenues are still uncertain owing to the working of the new tariff, and internal revenue has been adversely affected by well known conditions.

The artificial character of the present market is still very apparent. Investors hold aloof, and outside speculation is on a limited scale. The short interest in the market, has been considerably enlarged, affording a good buying element on pronounced declines, but it is still plain that the large owners of stocks have not succeeded in satisfactorily distributing their surplus holdings in spite of their concerted efforts to prevent the market settling down to a more natural level. It is true the general situation is one that warrants hopefulness and continued activity; but the stock market long ago overdiscounted these conditions, and the drop in some of our best issues of 15 to 20 points has been more due to a realization of this fact than to the actual output of new securities. Caution is still advisable in all purchases, it being questionable whether the market has yet touched bottom. Much will depend upon the attitude of congress. The London market must also be watched since the British government may be obliged to borrow heavily owing to the temporary suspension of revenue arising from the budget crisis.

HENRY CLEWS.

Women Who Are Envyed.

Those attractive women who are lovely in face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might be like them. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation or kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate stomach, liver and kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion. Many charming women owe their health and beauty to them. See at all druggists.

A COZY HOME

WAS FITTED UP AND THE MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED.

Former Paducah Girl Starts to Work But Stops On Way to Be Married.

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 6.—Miss Mollie E. Thompson, 181 Market avenue, left her home Tuesday morning with the intention, she said, of going to her work in an up-town department store.

She stopped on the way, at 373 11th street, a cozy little home which Henry A. Harp, baker, had furnished for her.

Harp and Miss Thompson were married shortly afterwards by Magistrate William Creagan. Miss Thompson wrote a note to her mother later, on Wednesday afternoon, asking parental forgiveness.

Mrs. Harp's parents were taken by surprise. Mrs. Harp, nee Thompson, met the baker several months ago, shortly after her arrival in Memphis from Paducah, Ky. Friendship ripened into love, but Miss Thompson, with an eye to the future, would not consent to marriage unless she had a furnished house awaiting her on the day the ceremony was to be performed.

Harp, undaunted, went ahead and prepared the home, which was the scene of the marriage.

Miss Thompson is the pretty and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Thompson, formerly of Paducah, and is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson, of 311 Jackson street.

EPILEPSY CURED.

To Whom It May Concern:—I will say my wife had epilepsy or fits for thirteen years. I secured one bottle of Hays' Specific. She had two fits the day I got the bottle. She had from two to three fits a day. She has no more fits. I would not take ten times the cost of the medicine and be without it.

Is it possible that anybody will fail to have a merry Christmas, who might have enjoyed one, if you had gone out of your way a little to see to it?

Here are a few figures that count: building permits in 105 cities in the United States in October aggregated $64,847,588, which is better than the showing made for the same month in 1908 and 1907. The car service reports show that 3,244,155 cars were used in October, and the report for ten months of 1909 show that thirteen per cent more cars were used than in the same ten months of 1908 and more than were used in the same ten months in 1907.

NICARAGUA.

There is only four square miles difference between the area of Nicaragua and the state of New York. Take Connecticut out of New England, and Nicaragua would cover the rest of it. It is approximately half the size of the state of Washington. To be exact, it covers 49,200 square miles, which is larger than Holland, Belgium and Denmark combined. It has a remarkable extent of coast line on two oceans. On the Caribbean, it reaches nearly 300 miles due north and south; on the Pacific, it extends 225 miles. Its greatest width is 275 miles, or approximately the distance from Washington to New York. Its least width is 125 miles, or approximately the distance from Chicago to the Mississippi river.

It has the smallest population of any Central American country, but is correspondingly capable of great material development. There are only about 600,000 people within its limits. Of these, five-sixths are upon the western or Pacific side. The eastern or Caribbean shore lies low and is drained by many rivers. The only industry of this section is the growing of bananas which were shipped in 1908 to the number of 1,500,000 bunches, valued at 50 cents a bunch. The principal town here is Bluefields, a little south of the center, having 5,000 inhabitants. It is 1,186 miles from New Orleans and 310 miles from Colon. The only other important places on this east coast are Greytown, at the southern point, with 2,000 inhabitants, near the mouth of San Juan river, which was to have been the course of the Isthmian canal, if built through Nicaragua, and Cape Gracias a Dios, at the northern point, with only 1,500 people. On the populated Pacific slope the chief cities are Leon, the historic and interesting old capital, with 60,000 inhabitants; Managua, the present capital, with 40,000; Matagalpa, with 16,000; Granada, with 12,000, and several other towns of from 5,000 to 10,000. The principal port on the Pacific side is Corinto, near the northern end, with only about 2,000 people. At the southern end is the harbor of San Juan del Sur.

There is one railroad in Nicaragua which starts at Corinto and runs to Managua and thence across to Granada on Lake Nicaragua, which is the largest inland body of water in all Latin-America. If one wishes to go to Nicaragua, he can take steamers on the Atlantic side from New York, New Orleans or Mobile. Going by Pacific, he will take steamers from San Francisco or from coast points of other countries. Perhaps the quickest way to reach it today is either through Mexico by rail and by steamer from Salina Cruz to Corinto, or by steamer from New Orleans direct to Bluefields. The latter journey generally takes about four days. If, however, one lands on the east coast, it is practically impossible to go to the west coast on account of the lack of railroads and other facilities. A common way to go to the west coast is via Panama and the Pacific side.

Nicaragua has a president, a cabinet with five ministers or secretaries, thirteen departments or states, and five divisions like our territories. Its national assembly consists of only one chamber which is now in session.

It is located all within the tropics, but it has a considerable variety of climate. Although the east coast is low-lying and very warm, the central and western sections are in parts so mountainous and elevated that the temperature never reaches a high point and the climate can be considered salubrious.

THE PRINCIPLE INVOLVED.

It is current rumor on the streets that the board of councilmen tonight will refuse to ratify the contract with A. J. Miller, of Lynchburg, Va., for the sidewalk, curb and gutter work on Fountain avenue, Twelfth and Clay streets. We shall not attempt to dictate to the councilmen; but we shall show to them that there is a principle of fair dealing involved, as well as the dignity of the board itself and the interest of taxpayers and property owners in Paducah.

To begin with, we call their attention to the statement of City Engineer Washington, who assumes all responsibility for the adoption of granite curbing, that the terms of the contract let, including granite curbing in the specifications, are lower than the terms for similar work heretofore let, specifying concrete curbing. So there is no question that the board of public works secured a fair contract.

The general council, after due consideration, we assume, instructed the board of public works to let contracts for sidewalks, curbs and gutters on Fountain avenue, Twelfth and Clay streets, specifying granite curbing. In conformity with instructions, and a desire to secure the cheapest and best work, the board of public works and the city engineer prepared careful specifications and advertised for bids all over the country. As a result many foreign bidders competed and one of them secured the contract by underbidding all competitors, foreign and local.

The board of public works awarded the contract to the firm, which announced voluntarily that local sub-contractors, workmen and material men would be patronized.

Complaint has been frequently made that the cost of laying sidewalks has been excessive because there was too little competition. Supposing that after the general council in its wisdom has decided on granite curbing, and instructed the board of public works to have the work done; and the city engineer has drawn specifications, and the board of public works has invited foreign contractors to come to the city and bid, and the contract is awarded, the general council goes back on its decision in the face of the city engineer's advice, and turns down the contract—what will be the result?

The city of Paducah can advertise for foreign bids until Dooms' Day and be laughed at.

If councilmen and citizens think it essential that foreign bidders compete in order to reduce and keep down the price of concrete work, they must realize that by going back on this contract, they forever bar Paducah from engaging the attention of foreign bidders on such work.

The general council is responsible for the granite specifications in the first place, and its members must bear the responsibility for the result of any further action it takes in regard to the contract.

UNIQUE SPECTACLE

FROZEN IN THE HEART OF BIG CAKE OF ICE.

Curious Broadway Crows Witness Very Unusual Sight.

Some truly remarkable stunts are pulled off these days in the name of advertising, and they are usually full of meat for thought to prospective buyers of the article advertised. Nothing more remarkable has been seen in Paducah for many a day, however, than the unique spectacle of a good looking watch solidly frozen in the heart of a big cake of ice, Saturday, in front of the jewelry store of J. L. Wanner, 311 Broadway. Mr. Wanner was busy explaining to interested seekers after information that the watch is a regular 18 size South Bend watch, retailing at $20 only and that the reason it keeps perfect time, though subjected to the terrific test of freezing, is the perfect adjustment to heat, cold and all positions which every South Bend watch has; its a stock watch and has received no special adjustment. Mr. Wanner says that most watches, even though costing more money, would be unable to withstand this test without showing a marked variation in time-keeping qualities.

AT THE CHURCHES

At Grace Church.

It was an eminently practical sermon the Rev. D. C. Wright preached to the congregation of Grace Episcopal church yesterday morning. He said spiritual development does not come from constant meditation and withdrawal from contact with the world; but from living a Christian life among others, where the light may shine out, and other lives be influenced and made better by it.

Christianity measures a man by the effect of his life on the lives around him, said Dr. D. C. Wright. In the east the man, who is subtle and can get the better of his fellow-men as well as circumstances, is highly regarded; other countries look upon the man of physical and mental strength as the best; but Christ pointed out the man, whose life's influence is good on those with whom he comes in contact.

Every person who comes in contact with is affected to some extent by our personalities. The tree is known by its fruits. We judge of culture and refinement by its manifestation in contact with others. We can only judge whether a person is a lady or a gentleman by her or his conduct toward others. So Christianity is manifested in our daily lives. We are known by our fruits; and it may be in that final judgment the result of one's life in its effect upon others for good or evil will be weighed in the balance of humanity, and salvation or condemnation will depend upon the falling scale.

How are you living? What are you doing that humanity may be uplifted and the way made straighter for your fellow beings? These are the practical questions he put.

Christian Church.

Inclement weather yesterday resulted in a smaller attendance at the Tenth Street Christian church. Both the morning and evening services. Two excellent sermons were delivered by the pastor, the Rev. C. E. Jackson and at the evening service a new member was admitted the ordinance of baptism. The attendance at the Sunday school was large yesterday morning and interest is increasing in the contest between the men's and ladies' Bible classes. Three more weeks remain until the close and the men's class stands four counts in the lead.

The regular meetings of the Ladies' Aid and C. W. B. M. societies of the church are being held this afternoon at the church.

First Christian.

A most able sermon was delivered by the First Christian church yesterday morning, by the Rev. E. D. Cunningham, who told of Paul's fretfulness in his letter to Timothy. He told of how Paul described himself as chief among sinners in writing to Timothy, placing himself as the worst among his people. Only a small congregation was present, on account of the inclement weather.

Rev. Mr. Cunningham has consented to occupy the pulpit next Sunday morning and Sunday, December 13, the new pastor, the Rev. W. A. Pile, of Fulton, Mo., will take formal charge of the pastorate.

First Baptist.

Contrast of the constant changing of material things with that of the steadfastness of the doctrine of Christ, was the substance of a strong sermon last night by the Rev. M. E. Dodd. "Christ Always the Same," was the subject of his discourse, and he emphasized the fact that Christ is the same yesterday, today and tomorrow. At the conclusion of the sermon there were two additions to the church. In the morning Dr. Dodd preached on "Paying God," and there was one addition.

On December 19, Dr. Dodd will preach a special sermon on "Building for God," which will be devoted to the need of a new church. On the first Sunday in January, the first collection for the church building fund will be taken.

A large congregation was present last night at the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church to hear Dr. Landis' talk on "An Encouraging Bible," the third of his interesting lectures in "Some of the Forgotten Heroes of the Early Church." The character of Titus was used as the illustration of the subject. Next Sunday Dr. Landis will take for his subject, "The Man Honored by God." This completes the series of talks and that they have been a success has been attested by the large attendance.

North Twelfth Street.

The Rev. J. R. Clark, pastor of the North Twelfth Street Baptist church, returned from Hardwell Saturday and filled the pulpit at the church yesterday. The attendance in spite of the inclement weather was very large.

Pastors Meet.

The Protestant Pastors' association will meet tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Broadway Methodist church. The association will be addressed by the Rev. E. B. Landis, pastor of the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church. There is some important business to be transacted and a full attendance is desired.

Second Baptist.

The usual Sunday services were held at the Second Baptist church yesterday and both the Sunday school and the preaching service was well attended. The Rev. Mr. Smalley's sermon on the evening on "Blood" was especially interesting.

German.

Two very interesting services were held at the German Evangelical church yesterday and the attendance at both the services was up to the usual standard.

The regular announced program was carried out at the German Lutheran church yesterday.

Broadway Methodist.

Excellent congregations were present both morning and evening at the Broadway Methodist church. The Rev. G. T. Sullivan preached two strong and thoughtful sermons along practical lines. The morning theme was "The Helmsmen Sustained by the Church Members to the Pastor," and the relation between people and pastor was splendidly stressed. A number of helpful points were made. There was one addition to the church at the morning hour. Communion service followed the sermon. The music was especially good. At the evening service Mrs. Lyle and Mrs. Hubbard rendered a duet with their accompaniment as the voluntary, and the offertory was sung by Mr. John L. Robinson and Mr. Floyd Harris, with chorus by choir. The official board of the church will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock and all members are urged to be present.

Fountain Avenue.

There were three additions to the Fountain Avenue Methodist church yesterday. The Rev. G. W. Banks preached an excellent sermon at the morning hour. A musical program was rendered at night. The congregation was a large one. The following splendid program was rendered: Hymn 261; Congregation, Prayer—Rev. G. W. Banks. Hymn 19—Choir.

Music by Orchestra—E. H. Pierce, Robert Pierce, John Hurly, A. J. Hamberg, Mrs. Williamson and Mr. Holbertson.

Music by Quartet—A. J. Hamberg, Elmer Hamberg, Hally Tucker and Charles Lassiter.

Scripture Reading—Rev. G. W. Banks.

Song—Choir.

Violin Solo—Robert Pierce.

Music by quartet.

Music by orchestra.

Song—Choir.

Benediction—Rev. G. W. Banks.

Cumberland Presbyterian.

The Rev. J. G. Anderson, of Jackson, Tenn., preached two interesting services yesterday to a fair congregation, but owing to the weather the crowd was not as large as usual. The regular monthly business meeting of the Christian Endeavor of the church will be held at the church Thursday evening after the prayer meeting. All members are urged to be present.

HEAVY PLUMBING BILL CAUSED BY PRISONERS.

For the last regular session of the year and also of the present county administration, the fiscal court will convene tomorrow morning at the court house. While it will be the last regular session it is probable that a special session will be held the last of this month in order to wind up the business of the administration. A large number of bills will be presented tomorrow and many dollars will be paid out of the county treasury. In addition to the regular bill of the county jailer, a bill for $100 worth of plumbing work will be before the court. Twenty-four collisions are recorded and at least 50 per cent of those were caused by fog.

The loss of life and property is more than double that of last year.

The greatest loss of life on any one vessel occurred when the steamer John B. Cowie was rammed and sunk by the steamer Lane M. Scott, on Lake Superior, on July 123. Fourteen men were then drowned.

KING WORKS AS STEVEDORE.

Swedish Ruler Wants to Get Point of View of Lower Classes.

Stockholm, Dec. 6.—King Gustave on Saturday inaugurated a new departure for staterulers. Disguised as a stevedore, he spent most of the day carrying sacks of coal from a lighter.

In an interview, after it was all over, the king said this was only the beginning. He intended to mix with all classes of laborers, so that his might ascertain their opinions and wishes. Already, he added, he had obtained many valuable hints from the men with whom he worked.

SKY SCRAPER MISTAKE

Owing to a mistake by the painter, the sign on the Fourth street side of McPherson's drug store, the public may be led to believe that the P. S. Realty Co. is to be the sole occupant of the new ten-story building. This is an error, as they will only occupy a portion of it.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF THE PADUCAH BREWERY.

Mr. Volkamp is a son of one of the partners in the firm of W. J. Lemp & Company, of St. Louis, and for the past six years has been assistant brewmaster at Lemp plant. He will bring his family to Paducah in a few days. The contracts for the improvements the brewery will add to its plant will be let next Monday. The blue prints are in the hands of the contractor, and call for the expenditure of between $40,000 and $50,000.

Parl Mutuels Joke. New Orleans, La., Dec. 6.—Leading hotel keepers held a private meeting here tonight for the purpose of adopting some plan whereby horse racing and pool selling can be revived in Louisiana. At the termination of the session no one would discuss what took place. It is learned from an authentic source, however, that a petition will be passed around for signatures within the next few days. This will be the first petition presented so far. Another meeting is scheduled within the near future, at which it is understood members of the legislature will be invited.

Gossip regarding the revival of racing with the pari-mutuel system is regarded as a joke here. If the sport is to be revived, pari-mutuels will hardly be tolerated, as the reform element branded the mutuel system worse than bookmaking before the legislature passed the Locke bill.

LARGE TOBACCO DELIVERIES. Weed Is Moving Briskly at Satisfactory Prices.

Clarksville, Tenn., Dec. 6.—The tobacco season has opened with large deliveries of loose tobacco to the association prize houses and independent retailers. The loose tobacco warehouses are doing a good business and tobacco is moving briskly at satisfactory prices. There is an active market, with strong bidding for all grades of tobacco offered. There has not been enough new tobacco grown to enable the Dark Tobacco Growers' Association to have its opening sales. The receipts in November were 162 hogheads, old crop; sales, 87; shipments, 267; total stocks, December 1, 418; buyers' stocks, 345; sellers' stocks, 83. The receipts in the independent market last week were 2 hogheads, sales 1. The following prices are quoted: Trash, $1.00 to $1.25; low lugs, $1.50 to $5.00; common lugs, $3.25 to $5.75; medium lugs, $6.00 to $6.50; good lugs, $6.50 to $7.00; low leaf, $7.00 to $7.75; common leaf, $8.00 to $8.75; medium leaf, $9.25 to $10.25.

Not a Suffragist Yet.

During the presidential campaign the question of woman suffrage was much discussed among women pro and con, and at an afternoon tea the conversation turned that way between the women guests.

"Are you a woman suffragist?" asked the one who was most interested.

"Indeed I am not!" replied the other most emphatically.

"Oh, that's too bad; but just supposing you were, whom would you support in the present campaign?"

"The same man I've always supported, of course," was the apt reply. "My husband."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Brownlow-Sims Wedding a Washington Society Event.

Daisy Fitzhughes Ayres, in her Saturday Washington letter to the Nashville Banner gives some delightfully intimate details of the approaching Brownlow-Sims wedding, which will be read with more than passing interest by the host of friends that Lou's Richmond Brownlow made when sojourning here:

"Distinctly the most brilliant event of the closing year in southern circles in Washington will be the marriage at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening, December 22, of Miss Elizabeth Virginia Sims, third daughter of Representative and Mrs. Thetis W. Sims, of Linden, Tenn., and Mr. Louis Brownlow, of Missouri and Tennessee. The ceremony and subsequent reception will take place at the home of the bride, on Massachusetts avenue, a particularly beautiful mansion in the exclusively fashionable section of the city, that was occupied last season by the Hawaiian congressional delegate and his wife, the Prince and Princess Kalaupanui. The interior is particularly attractive. A spacious white staircase descends spirally into a wide radius of white reception rooms that make the lower floor practically a single vast apartment. Down this snowy staircase the wedding cortege will descend, led by the dame of honor, the handsome sister of the bride, Mrs. William Joyner of Memphis and Denver, formerly Miss Tom Sims, in a trailing costume of pale blue neoclassic satin. On the arm of her father, Hon. Thetis W. Sims, the bride will follow, clad in a robe of white satin, decked with Duchesse lace and pearls. Mr. Brownlow and his best man, who will likely be Mr. Tom Wallace, of Louisville, his fellow journalist, who has recently accompanied him on a trip around the world, will emerge from an apartment on the lower floor. The ceremony will take place in a bower of flowers, before the windows in the wide front drawing room. There will be music by a screened orchestra and refreshments in the quaint, mediæval looking refectory. The bride and groom will leave at once for Ottawa, Canada, where Mr. Brownlow has literary interests. On the 4th of January they will sail for Europe, to remain in England and Germany until April, when they return to Washington to make their home. Mr. Brownlow combines business and pleasure in his wedding voyage, the European journey being one of many he has taken in the interest of an influential Washington newspaper syndicate with which he has been connected for years. The happy couple are a much traveled pair, the future Mrs. Brownlow, together with her sister, Mrs. Joyner, having recently returned from a sojourn in Italy and other European countries.

The "bride of the mistletoe," as Miss Elizabeth, or "Triste" Sims, as her intimates love to call her, might prophetically be dubbed, her marriage taking place so close to Christmas, is a girl of exceeding grace of personality. She rings true, one's heart goes out to her. She has a brilliantly cultivated mind. Mr. Brownlow, although a native of Missouri, has spent the greater part of his life in Tennessee, which he claims as his home. He has always been closely identified with the Nashville press. Mr. Walter Brownlow, of Springfield, Mo., brother of the groom, was expected to be best man but, unfortunately, he will not be able to attend the wedding. The officiating clergyman will be Rev. Frank E. Power, pastor of Gardfield Memorial Christian church. A large number of invitations have been issued and the company will be a brilliant one. The entire Tennessee congressional delegation that remain in town for the holidays will be present."

HYGIENIC DIET

People who prefer a vegetable diet to one of meat and who look for maximum nourishment with variety find a most unusual food in Faust Brand Spaghetti.

So indistinctly does it lend itself to the making of endless soupings and nourishing dishes—whether for dinner or supper—that it has taken the place of meat even in many non-vegetarian homes.

Faust Spaghetti is a food to work on. Makes blood, bone, muscle and energy—and, unlike meat, does it without taxing the digestion or overloading the blood.

Then consider the economy of it! At only five and ten cents a package it has as much as a nourishing, sustaining food within reach of all.

And as to its adaptability—the book of recipes sent free on request merely suggests the endless number of ways of serving it—as a simple side dish, a sweet pudding, or as the best part of a substantial meal; and, what is best of all, in such appetizing and tasty forms that it is always welcome.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Numerous changes in the personnel of the officers of the Atlantic battleship fleet were announced by Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop.

Rear Admiral Schroeder will remain at the head of the first division, by reason of his being commander-in-chief of the entire fleet, but the commanders of the other divisions will be changed. Capt. Charles E. Vreeland, chief of the office of naval intelligence, will be given command of the second division; Capt. Samuel P. Conley, now in command of the fourth division, will be moved up to the third, and Capt. Hugo Osterhaus, now in command of the second, to the fourth.

Capt. Temple M. Potts, commander of the Georgia, is given the choice assignment of chief of the naval intelligence office in Washington. Capt. Albert G. Winterhalter, whose detail as chief of the hydrographic office has expired, goes to the Louisiana.

Prospects for a Line From Columbus to Mayfield Good.

Mayfield, Ky., Dec. 6.—There is considerable talk and anxiety in this section over a proposed electric railway from Columbus to Mayfield. The proposition is being taken up by wealthy citizens of Arlington and others along the line, and they are doing much toward directing outside capital to this line and interesting the people of this country. The distance from Columbus to Mayfield is 30 miles and should this interurban be built it would be the greatest enterprise that ever happened for Mayfield. "Should the line be constructed to this city it is the intention to then extend to Murray."

Handling Line in Open Wagon. Charged with violating the city ordinance Nathan Melton, colored, a driver for Contractor George Weikel, was arrested at 9 o'clock this morning by Patrolman Singery and recognized for his appearance in police court tomorrow morning. A warrant sworn out by the policeman charges Melton with handling loose lime in a wagon over the streets. The lime was taken from Sixth and Jefferson streets and dropped along the streets to Third and Jefferson streets. This is the first arrest of the kind.

Convicted Although Absent. San Francisco, Dec. 6.—On telegraphic orders from the department of commerce and labor, Moyses de Amarel, said to be the son of a Portuguese nobleman and alleged to have been a fugitive from justice on the Azores islands, was set at liberty. He was being held for deportation. Amarel was said to have killed a man in the Azores, after which he fled to the United States. Despite his absence, the Azores authorities tried and convicted him for murder. Secretary Nagel found that as Amarel was not present at his trial, he could not have been legally convicted, and therefore was not a fugitive.

To Attend Association. County Court Clerk-elect Gus G. Singleton and his chief deputy, Herman Katterjohn, will leave for Louisville the last of this week to attend the County Court Clerk's association, which will convene December 11. In four weeks the newly elected county officers will take charge of their offices at the county court house.

MOTHER PROVES DETECTIVE.

Causes Arrest of Four Men for the Murder of 16-Year-Old Son.

St. Louis, Dec. 6.—Sixteen months of detective work by a mother who refused to believe that her boy had committed suicide, led to the arrest of four men and a woman here on suspicion. The mother is Mrs. Anna Cordes. Her 16-year-old son, William, came to his death in Pittsburgh Lake near East St. Louis. Mrs. Cordes and her daughter, Adele, took the broken and bloodstained oar of a boat as a clue and despite a verdict of accidental drowning by a coroner's jury, they delved toilsomely into the circumstances of the boy's end. They found the broken oar belonged not to the boat which Cordes had rented August 2, 1908, but to a skiff from another boat house. They found also that $105 was missing from Cordes' clothing and that his companions on the fishing trip told conflicting stories as to what had happened.

Two of the prisoners, Frank and August Ruhr, are said to have been with Cordes at the lake. Mrs. Koelsch is their aunt. The other prisoners, Alex Holder and Fred Blanchel, were arrested because of remarks alleged to have been made by them and which, the police declare, indicate that they possess considerable knowledge of Cordes' death.

Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor

LAKE BUSINESS BOOMING.

Washington, Dec. 6.—(Special)—The enlarging volume of internal commerce during October is illustrated by the reports to the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor of leading commercial movements in various parts of the country. The improved industrial situation is manifested principally in the very heavy movements of coke and iron ore, demanded by the iron furnaces. The slight and port receipts of cotton, notwithstanding the shorter crop of the year, exceeded like receipts for the first two months of the preceding seasons. The movements of hard and soft coal, likewise, show an increased volume. The grain movement of the month proved fairly heavy, while the receipts of live stock at interior and eastern markets, mainly because of the shortage in the supply of hogs, were rather light. The traffic activity of the railways, as indicated by the number of cars handled by the various demurrage bureaus, shows a continuous improvement.

Live stock receipts during October at seven leading interior markets, 1,062,236 head, were below those reported for October, 1908 and 1907—4,074,565 and 4,121,805 head. Shipments during the month of packing house products from Chicago, 196,835,371 pounds, likewise shows a considerable decline from the figures reported for October, 1908 and 1907—238,458,186 and 240,420,433 pounds.

Live stock receipts at the four principal Atlantic seacoast cities, 881,120 head, show a considerable decline as compared with the corresponding October, 1908, figures of 928,573 head.

The grain movement during the month, as measured by the receipts at 14 leading interior markets, 98,149,320 bushels, compares favorably with corresponding October figures for 1908 and 1907, when 85,554,230 and 98,780,192 bushels were received at the same markets.

Combined flour and grain receipts during the month at the four leading Atlantic seaports, 25,594,156 bushels, were over a million bushels short of the corresponding 1908 receipts.

The monthly coastwise receipts of southern pine at New York, 41,580,556 feet, compare favorably both with the September receipts, as well as the October, 1908 and 1907, receipts of the article.

Slight receipts of cotton for the first two months of the season, 3,612,202 bales, exceeded both the corresponding cotton movements in 1907 and 1908, when the slight receipts amounted to 2,689,634 and 1,571,612 bales.

Wool receipts during the month at Boston, 21,866,150 pounds, show a further decline from the heavy totals recorded for the summer months of the year, though being about 30 per cent in excess of the October, 1908, receipts.

The October shipments of anthracite coal from eastern producing territory, 5,579,759 gross tons, mark a large increase over the light shipments of the summer months, though falling about 400,000 tons short of the corresponding monthly movements in the two preceding years.

Building operations for the month at 105 cities in various parts of the country, as measured by the value of the building permits granted by municipal authorities, aggregated $64,847,588, which figure compares favorably with the record of the preceding month, as well as of the corresponding month in 1908.

The traffic movement of the railroads for the month, as measured by the number of freight cars handled by 33 car service associations and demurrage bureaus, 3,244,155 cars, continues to show gains over the figures of the earlier months of the year, as well as the corresponding 1907 totals. The number of cars handled by these associations during the 10 months of the present year, 25,704,721 cars, was 13 per cent larger than the corresponding number in 1908 and even in excess of the corresponding number two years ago.

Lake Commerce. Commercial movements on the great lakes during October, as measured by the volume of domestic shipments from various lake ports, 12,618,212 net tons, while somewhat lighter than during the preceding three months, show, however, a larger total than for the two preceding seasons. Over 50 per cent of the total monthly shipments is represented by iron ore, the movement of which exceeded even the unusually heavy October, 1907, movement. The reports to the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor, show that the shipments of coal, especially anthracite, were lighter than the shipments during the same month in the two preceding seasons. Larger shipments as compared with corresponding 1908 totals, are reported for—

"Elevator" Contains Interesting Article by Prof. Donovan of This City.

Prof. H. Lee Donovan, of this city, has the following article in "The Elevator," the western normal school publication:

In reviewing the relation that should exist between the State Normal and city schools, we are discussing institutions which should be very closely related. The state normal has its existence because of the public schools, while the public schools could hardly expect to be a success if indeed, they survived, were it not for normal schools or institutions which would do the work of the normal.

The normal school should be the fountain head of the public school system of the state. Some may challenge this statement, and say the state university should have first place. Pre-eminently the business of the university is to make scholars, while that of the normal school is to make teachers. And as teachers, make the schools. I take the position that the normal school should be the heart of the public school system.

The current belief has been, and to some extent still prevails, that the teaching profession differs from other professions, in being more readily acquired and easier to put into practice. I cannot conceive of a more mistaken idea. Teaching is a fine art, and so weighty a charge should never be entrusted to amateurs. Will the master mechanic permit the unskilled hands of the high school graduate to use his delicate instruments? Does the man, who has a case before the law, go to the high school, or even the college graduate, for his advice upon the statutes of the state, or get him to plead his case before the jury? If these things are of so great importance as to be entrusted only in the hands of the trained and skilful, how much more should be the training and how much greater the skill of the hands that are to handle a human soul, enshrined in such a delicate mechanism as the body of a little child.

The time is not distant, if it has not already come, when the young teacher who wishes to teach in the city, must be a trained teacher. High school graduates are no longer thought to be any better prepared to teach than to take up one of the other professions. City superintendents and school boards are demanding of those who knock at the door of the city school something more than scholarship, and I do not believe it would be amiss to say, something better than scholarship—the innateness of it. Every teacher should be a fair scholar, but this is not the main thing. What makes the teacher is the passion to make scholars, and many times the great scholar has no such passion whatever. However great the emphasis we place upon scholarship, we must admit that freedom, ease, confidence, power in presentation and skill in questioning are the elements of teaching, which should hold first place in professional training.

Let us consider briefly where this training can best be procured. Will it be in the college or university, pursuing a classic or scientific course? Or, on the other hand, would it be better to attend a normal school, where, along with your classic and scientific work you are trained how to direct the thoughts of the child? The college and university have their field, and in it they cannot be surpassed, but they are no better prepared to make teachers than preachers or doctors. What the city needs is more better trained teachers. Teachers trained in normal schools, for normal schools are the only places the teachers can get the necessary professional training) under men and women who have spent their lives in the study of education and its problems.

In discussing the subject one of the most prominent city superintendents in the state said that the normal schools must feed the demand for teachers of the city schools. He also said that the best teachers would naturally drift into the cities because of better salaries, longer terms and eventually to supply the city schools with teachers, then the relation is, as I see it, as the relation between the teacher and pupil, with the normal as the instructor and the teacher as the learner.

With the normal school as the instructor of the city teacher it should have upon its faculty men and women who have had experience in city schools; who must have its manual training school and its department of domestic science; it should take up such problems as the delinquent, the truant, the street urchin, the child from the slums and many other problems of this nature, all of which the city teacher will have to face, sooner or later; and last but not least, the normal should have a training school, beginning at the first grade and continuing through the twelfth, where the teachers of the various grades of city schools can go and observe the model teaching that they may be inspired with new hope and fired with great ambition.

The training school should be one of the principal features of the normal school, for it is here that the teacher gets her practical training in school room management. The subject matter and the details of school management are brought out and discussed by wise critics and expert teachers here, as in no other place. This is a training every teacher should have, though many students who are preparing to teach tend themselves to think it is not worth while. As a student in the normal, I believed that all that was necessary for a teacher was a clear understanding of the subject matter to be taught. But after more than a year's experience I have been convinced that the very thing I fought as a student has given me the most aid as a teacher.

Teaching should be a profession for all who follow it, but with many it is a trade. The mercenary spirit prompts many teachers to take up the work. Too many city teachers lack the spirit which inspired George Herbert Palmer to say, "Harvard college pays me for doing what I would gladly pay it for allowing me to do." I do not think one should despise money; but love of work and not salary should induce one to take up teaching. It is most desirable that the city teacher possess a professional spirit, that her vocation may be lifted above the ordinary wage earner, and the worker transformed. The state normal dignified the teaching profession; it electrified the teacher with a professional zeal and sends its students out into the field ready "to take up the work in the spirit of self-sacrifice."

Having briefly reviewed the relation that should exist between the state normal and city schools, as I see it, I wish to be frank and say, as ever, I do not believe the proper relation exists between the two institutions. The public has not yet awakened to the realization of the true value of the normal school, and consequently the popular demand has not become sufficiently great as to cause every teacher to seek some professional training. Not only is the public ignorant of the true worth of the state normal, but many teachers think the normal school is a place for one of menial education, that they may get such instruction in the common branches as to enable them to get a certificate to teach. The fact is that one should not enter the normal school until they have finished a high school or its equivalent, and are ready to tie their two or three years' work of preparation for teaching.

The normal schools were established and are maintained primarily for the purpose of training teachers. They have much to give the city teacher. Any one seeking professional training with the purpose of teaching in the city schools of this state should endeavor to obtain this training from a Kentucky normal school, because Kentucky normal schools are best prepared to train Kentucky teachers. There are characteristics peculiar to our own state, as is true of every state, due to location, sectional differences, climate, soil and public spirit. Our normal schools, as leaders of the educational system, are better adapted to meet these needs than other institutions, foreign to our state.

Los Angeles Barker Finds Himself Voluntary Bignault.

Los Angeles, Dec. 6.—Ernest Pendleton, a prosperous baker, who has lived in this city for twenty years, is confronted today by the fact that he is possessed of two wives and that he has two households to provide for and supervise. The fact that his two wives are sisters, and that there is not only no discord between them, but a great affection and that he is equally fond of both, only tends to complicate the situation.

Thirteen years ago Mr. Pendleton was married to his first wife in this city and lived with her seven years. Then she was attracted by a band of religious people known as "Holy Rollers," and went away with them, leaving that she had procured a divorce in Denver, Pendleton, three years ago, married a younger sister of the first Mrs. Pendleton in this city.

The first Mrs. Pendleton returned to Los Angeles a few days ago and met her former husband and has been forgiven. Pendleton has undertaken to maintain an establishment for each until some solution of the difficulty can be found.

In a modern product. From time immemorial sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost every one knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair and making it grow. In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. CIVIL SERVICE
IN DIPLOMACY

WOULD QUALIFY LEGATION SEC-RETARIES TO BE MINISTERS.

Board of Examiners Prescribed to Pass Upon the Fitness of All Applicants.

TAFT ADOPTS KNOX'S IDEA

Washington, Dec. 6.—To improve the personnel and efficiency of the diplomatic service and to encourage secretaries of legations to qualify for promotion to the rank of ministers, President Taft has approved a plan suggested by Secretary Knox and published last night as an executive order.

The new project provides for a board of examiners to pass upon all applicants for appointments as secretaries and prescribes the standard to be maintained. Secretary Knox, in a letter submitting his plan to the president, points out the remarkable growth of the political and commercial foreign relations of the United States and the increasing difficulty of the problems to be dealt with.

Records of efficiency of all the under-secretaries will be preserved in the state department and appointments from outside the service to secretarieships will be made only to the class of third secretary of embassy; or, in case of higher vacancies, of second secretary of legation, or of secretary of legation at posts which have assigned to them only one secretary.

Meaning of Examinations.
Vacancies in secretarieships of the higher classes will in the future be filled by promotion from the lower grades and efficiency and ability demonstrated in the service would be the tests of advancement.

The examinations will be held at Washington and will be both oral and written. Knowledge of these subjects will determine the fitness of the candidate: international law, diplomatic usage, at least one modern language other than English—either French, German or Spanish—the natural commercial and industrial resources of the United States; American history, government and institutions and the modern history of Europe beginning 1850, as well as the Latin-American countries and the far east. A physical examination will be supplemental.

Candidates must be between the ages of 21 and 30 years. From the successful candidates an appointive list will be prepared and from this the candidates will be chosen. The department will aim to apportion representation fairly among the states and territories.

Letter of Knox.
In his letter to the president, Secretary Knox said:

Department of State,
Washington, Nov. 26, 1909.
My Dear Mr. President—The remarkable growth of the political and commercial foreign relations of the United States and the increasing difficulty of the problems growing out of these relations which have to be dealt with through the instrumentality of the diplomatic service, make it apparent that some improvement should speedily be made in the organization of that service. It seems particularly desirable that in the interest of a more efficient foreign personnel an effort should be made to test more fully the qualifications of young men desirous of entering the diplomatic service as secretaries and to provide regulations which shall tend to encourage such a degree of efficiency on the part of secretaries as may justify

AVOID HARSH DRUGS.
Many Catholics Tend to Cause In-

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation is called Rexall Orderlies. These are prompt, soothing and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tasteless and colorless. Combined with other well known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not gripe, purge nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak delicate persons and aged people as well as for the most hearty person.

They come in two size packages, 12 tablets in one, 36 tablets in two. Remember you can obtain them only at our store.—The Rexall Store, W. B. McPherson, Fourth and Broadway.

their promotion to the higher grades and ultimately to the grade of minister. It is also of the highest importance that there should be a closer relationship between the two branches of the foreign service and the department of state than has hitherto existed.

With a view to the attainment of these objects I have the honor to submit for your approval a draft of an order providing a board of examiners for the diplomatic service, indicating the subjects and methods of examination and prescribing certain other rules conducive to that increase in the efficiency of the departmental, diplomatic and consular personnel, which appears to be so desirable.

I have the honor to be, Mr. President with great respect, very sincerely yours,

Paul Morton Says Thomas F. Ryan Should Be Commended for Taking Hold of the Equitable.

O'BRIEN IS FOR THE SCHEME

New York, Dec. 6.—The purchase of the majority of the stock of the Equitable Life Assurance society by J. Pierpont Morgan—a move of vast import to the financial world because of the virtual passing of control of nearly half a billion dollars of assets, and the domination of two large trust companies, is believed in Wall street to foreshadow a still more important move, the mutualization of the Equitable.

The mutualization phase of the Equitable purchase by Mr. Morgan from Thomas F. Ryan was generally discussed, but no definite information was obtainable. Former Justice Morgan J. O'Brien, one of the Equitable trustees, declared that the present system whereby the stockholders and policy holders joined in the election of directors was not desirable, as the responsibility of control could not now be fixed on either the stockholders or the policy holders.

"I am sure that a mutualization of the company would be to its interests," said Mr. O'Brien.

Morton Commends Ryan.

William H. Hotchkiss, state superintendent of insurance, said that the complete mutualization of the Equitable has been a subject of consideration for some months.

Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, issued the following statement:

"As stated by Mr. Morgan, he has bought Mr. Ryan's stocks, thereby securing a majority of the shares of the Equitable Life Assurance society. While Mr. Ryan held these shares his attitude towards the society was in every way commendable, as he did not seek to interfere with the management in the slightest degree. As nearly as it could be done, he gave to the society mutualization—under which arrangement the policy holders new elect a majority of the directors, their representation on the board being 28 out of a total of 52. He should be given great credit for what he did for the society in the time of its troubles, and is entitled to the thanks of all the policy holders.

Combination of Trust Companies.

Under Mr. Morgan's ownership of the majority stocks its affairs will be conducted as heretofore by the board of directors, with an eye single to the interests of its policy holders."

Mr. Morgan said that the question of complete mutualization of the society would be taken up in the future with the state superintendent of insurance.

In banking quarters it was said that the Mercantile Trust company and one or perhaps two trust companies controlled by J. P. Morgan might ultimately be combined with the Equitable Trust company as a result of the taking over of the Equitable society.

This combination of trust companies would control nearly $200,000,000 in assets.

A Thrilling Rescue.

How Bert R. Leach, of Chevy Chase, Wash., was saved from a frightful death is a story to thrill the world. "A hard cold," he writes, "brought on a desperate lung trouble that baffled an expert doctor here. Then I paid $10 to $15 a visit to a lung specialist in Spokane, who did not help me. Then I went to California, but without benefit. At last I used Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me and now I am as well as ever." REDISTRICTING COMMISSIONERS

MEET AND DRAFT BILL FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

Governor Willson Said He Has Faith That Democrats Will Do Their Duty.

AND BE FAIR WITH THE STATE

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 6.—The redistricting committee met in this city and drafted the tentative redistricting bill that will be recommended to the next legislature for passage. Governor Willson promised to recommend to the legislature any bill that the commission might agree upon. Governor Willson stated that the commission would make very few changes, and only where it was necessary.

Judge Edelen said that the commission based the redistricting bill upon the population of Kentucky being 2,150,000, and endeavored to make each representative district have as near as possible 21,000 residents, and each senatorial district 56,000 residents. He added that wherever possible the committee made no change in the district. It was agreed among the members of the committee that the tentative measure should not be given out, and that it would not be given out until it had been submitted to Governor Willson.

The commission met shortly after noon with Judge Alex Humphrey, Col. Alexander Cowan, of Louisville; Judge T. L. Edelen, of Frankfort; Col. John T. Shelby, of Lexington; Judge C. H. McElroy, of Bowling Green; Col. L. J. Crawford, of Newport; and Judge John F. Hager, of Ashland, present. The absentees were O. H. Waddle, of Somerset; J. D. Black, of Barbourville, and John K. Hendrick, of Paducah.

Governor Willson called the body to order and delivered a brief address outlining his reasons for making the appointments. He pointed out that the court of appeals had set aside the redistricting act of 1906 as being unfair and violating the provisions of the constitution and had practically declared that the old act of 1892 was an unfair one within the meaning of the constitution.

The governor frankly declared that a redistricting must benefit the republican party, but denied that he had any such motive in naming a redistricting commission. He said it was not a question of what Rhode Island or Massachusetts had done in the matter of redistricting, but rather what fair minded Kentuckians would do; how they would treat one another and men of the opposite political belief.

He expressed the belief that the Democratic general assembly, which convenes next month, will agree to redistrict the state, and that the overwhelming majority for the Democratic party in the two houses did not indicate to his mind that the legislators will fail in their duty in this respect. He said that it was in a spirit of fairness that he called the commission to meet and appointed its members from both political parties. He told the commissioners that their body was purely an unofficial one; that they were selected to prepare a redistricting bill was not the usurping of any power of the general assembly.

"I have trusted this matter fully to you," said the governor in concluding, "and whatever your findings shall be I will promise now to recommend without change to the legislature."

Recommend Experts.

Before retiring from the committee room, the governor recommended to the commissioners Senator Alvin S. Bennett, of Louisville, secretary of the state central committee of the republican party, and Col. L. P. Tarlton, of Frankfort, republican railroad commissioner for this district, as being well advised as to what redistricting was necessary in the several districts of the state. He said that Secretary Bennett was well supplied with maps of the districts of Kentucky and with figures taken and compiled from the United States census reports, and was ready to give the commission any information that it might desire upon the subject. He said that Colonel Tarlton also was supplied with information upon the subject, and ready to give the commission the benefit of his research.

Judge Humphrey Elected.

Following the withdrawal of the governor from the meeting, Judge Humphrey asked the commission to name a permanent chairman of the body, he having been designated by the governor only for the purpose of calling the body together. Colonel Cowan suggested that Judge Humphrey retain the chair. This was unanimously agreed to. Judge Humphrey named as secretary of the commission, Colonel Shelby.

The commission then heard from the two leading republicans whom the governor had recommended to them. Colonel Tarlton presented the body with the redistricting bill which he drafted last session of the assembly and which was urged upon the legislature by State Senator A. R. Burnam, of Madison county, and which was buried in the early days of the session.

THEIR BROTHERS

chosen to speak the words in remembrance of our beloved dead on this beautifully solemn occasion.

"The Seneca Indians had a beautiful superstition. When a loved one of the tribe was called to the Happy Hunting Grounds, a young bird was imprisoned until it began to chirp its little song. It then was loaded with carob seeds and set free, with the firm conviction that it would neither fold its wings nor close its eyes, until it had borne its burden to the shadow in the spirit land. Today, if the superstition were true, and the bird were freed it would carry with it to immortal shores the undying love and everlasting remembrance which we feel for our dead, who died in the path that leads to duty.

"There has always been a disposition among men to honor the memory of their dead, and to linger with a mournful pleasure upon the recollection of their virtues. It is common to humanity everywhere, in every clime and to every race. Its memorials are seen alike in the fading wreath upon the obscure grave of humble poverty and the sculptured marble that lifts its head above the mouldering dust of wealth and grandeur. That disposition has brought us together today to offer the affectionate tribute to those who were united to us by the tender ties of friendship and fraternal love. You have heard their names called, but their voiceless lips have given back no answering echo. They are gone—gone beyond our power to help or to save. In life they were faithful and true to the great principles of our order—Charity, Justice, Brotherly Love and Fidelity. The grandest and noblest virtue that can adorn the human character is charity. It was this that caused that Christian gentleman and gallant soldier, Sir Philip Sidney, when stricken unto death on the field of battle, and about to drink the few remaining drops of water in his canteen, seeing by his side a wounded soldier, turned his dying eyes towards him and said, 'Friend, thy need is greater than mine,' and pressed to his parched lips the cooling water. It is the exercise of this virtue by humanity that has caused to be erected all over our broad land the orphan asylums that sweet and innocent childhood may be nurtured and protected, and their tottering footsteps guided in the path that leads to life everlasting. This virtue finds expression in our order in the celebration and commemoration of that momentous event that gave to humanity its Savior, and caused the blessed angels in heaven to sing, 'Peace on earth and good will to men,' and in all the cities of our nation where our order lives the Christmas tree bends its boughs laden with the gifts that will cause the dimples of joy and gladness to mantle the pinched faces of the children of the poor and lowly.

EXCHANGES CAN DO GOOD

Washington, Dec. 6.—Both the producers of cotton and the dealers in that commodity are the victims of the system of trading in vogue on the cotton exchanges of the country. This is the burden of parts 4 and 5 of the report of Commissioner of Corporations Herbert Knox Smith on the conduct of such exchanges. The practice of dealing in futures, as it is carried on at present, is condemned, although the report does not condemn the existence of the exchange.

The brief discussion of general speculation in this report, says Mr. Smith, "recognizes the possibilities for good inherent in a great central market like a cotton exchange, and the need that this good be developed and evil eliminated by regulations in line with economic law."

The report is especially condemnatory of the dealing in futures, branding this form of speculation as pure gambling and highly injurious to legitimate trade. In quotations for "future" deliveries of cotton the market is so uncertain and so many elements of chance enter into the transaction that all bids are made at a much lower figure than those offered for cotton actually in existence.

Farmer Is Loser.

The effect of these fictitious quotations the report points out, tends to mislead the cotton planter as to the true value of his crop, honestly grown in addition. It leads brokers to "play" both sides of the market to protect themselves against loss in such trades, with the result that the producer is forced to pay in the end, while the farmer loses likewise.

The report, while recognizing that the exchanges in New Orleans and New York are necessary, does not mince words in criticizing the New York exchange. After declaring that the New Orleans methods of conducting the transactions in cotton followed natural lines, the report draws attention to the fact that it has been proved that the abnormal depressions in the future price in New York "were almost wholly due to improper artificial conditions now maintained by the New York cotton exchange, its maintaining them the New York exchange is responsible for a very real injury to the producer and merchant."

In closing the letter to President Taft, which accompanied his report, Commissioner Smith again takes occasion to reprove the New York cotton exchange. He says:

"After the publication of the earlier parts of this report the New Orleans and New York cotton exchanges established special committees instructed to consider the systems of their exchanges and to co-operate therein with the commissioner of corporations. Conferences have been held by the commissioner with both committees. On the part of New Orleans this co-operation was very complete, resulting in certain important improvements in the rules of that exchange. After more than a year's investigation the committee of the New York exchange has not yet made any final report or taken any subsequent action."

The commissioner touches on the activities of the various organizations of cotton growers, all formed with a view of controlling both price and production. He believes, however, that so numerous are the factors of supply and demand in determining the price of cotton that it is impossible to arrive at any satisfactory conclusion as to the extent of influence exerted by such organization.

FUTURE DEALS ARE CONDEMNED

COMMISSIONER SAYS PRODUCER AND DEALER ARE VICTIMS.

Effect of Fictitious Quotations Tends to Mislead Cotton Planter as to True Value of Crop.

McPherson's Drug Store On Fire

With Enthusiastic People Clamoring For Quaker.

A spark of curiosity kindled a flame of wonder which developed into a conflagration of enthusiasm at McPherson's drug store; Quaker is the cause of all. He claimed Quaker Extract would cure rheumatism, catarrh, kidney, liver, stomach or blood troubles and would also expel all worms and germs from the system. People doubted this at first, but now since so many Paducah people have already been cured confidence has been established and great crowds now call daily. Some people come to talk about the remedies, others to buy and try them, and still others call to tell what Quaker has already done for them. Many of these latter people will not allow their names to appear in the papers, but they will be given to you at the drug store so you can investigate.

Yesterday one man, a prominent local man, said: "I suffered with constipation, bloating, belching, indigestion, shortness of breath and dizziness for a long time. I venture to say I have tried over 50 different remedies during the past two years, but nothing helped me. Two weeks ago he requested me to try Quaker Extract and Oil of Balm. I sent for the treatment at McPherson's drug store. To my great surprise, I got a little better after taking only two or three doses. Today I can say that my bowels are regular and I have no more bloating or tight feeling in my stomach, which is indeed remarkable."

John Hartman, of Paducah, said: "I had an attack of rheumatism in both my ankles and was in misery. Was just about to order a set of crutches when a neighbor told me to try Quaker Extract and Oil. I did so and as a consequence today I am better and working again. It took Quaker just 12 days to cure me."

STORE FIRE

DISCOVERED AT 208 BROADWAY SUNDAY MORNING.

Children Playing With Matches Set Kentucky Avenue Home on Fire.

Fire was discovered in the store of M. S. Barnett & Company, 208 Broadway, Sunday morning, at 5 o'clock. The flames started in the office in the rear of the building and were burning briskly when the alarm was given. The Central fire company responded to the alarm and soon extinguished the fire. The loss, including the damage by water, will amount to about $600. The building is owned by Mayor James P. Smith.

Playing with Matches.

Children playing with matches at the home of Mr. James P. Kirk, 820 Kentucky avenue, started a fire Saturday afternoon. Some furniture caught fire, but it was extinguished with a small loss without the aid of the fire department. Buckets of water were thrown on the blaze and it was extinguished.

AT "THE STAR"

The vaudeville coming to the Star vaudeville theater this week, commencing Monday matinee, will be the strongest bill Mr. Deberger has secured. At the head of the bill are Patterson & Titus, two of the best known comedians in the business. Their turn is very refined and styled "Those College Boys." They just finished a very successful engagement at the Palace theater, Memphis, and come highly recommended.

Rose Wright, who is a sister-in-law of Mrs. Louis Farrell, will appear in each performance in a clever dancing and singing act.

For the first three days of the week Southern & Woodruff, traveling artists, in a singing, talking and acrobatic dancing act, will be seen, for the three days out, and for the last three days of the week they will be replaced by Steln & Earle, in a very funny sketch, introducing singing and dancing of an exceptionally good kind.

Bird's Sense of Direction.

The migratory instinct in birds is combined with another equally mysterious—that of sense of direction. A gentleman who is engaged in scientific research work for the government board on board the government steamboat Goldsucker records a very interesting observation he made of this characteristic of migratory bird life. An oyster catcher that was being buffeted by a head wind in its eastern flight across the North Sea toward the continental shores alighted on the boat. It took kindly to the attention paid to it so long as the boat kept its eastern course, but when the course of the boat was altered a few points to the northward the bird immediately showed signs of uneasiness, and after an apparent consideration of its bearings flew into the darkness of the night on its eastward course. The attention in the boat's course was revealed to those who were watching the bird only when the compass was examined.—Scoteman.
